Dr. Hal Dellinger

"Say It With Music" is a phrase that well applies to a man who has said and done much with music at JJC since September, 1949. As director of the choir, ensemble, Quintones, and swing band, he arranges and conducts these groups in the annual musicale, concerts, programs, assemblies, and on their annual tour.

He advises the students in music and education, and those he teaches can always receive encouragement and advice from this man whose outstanding attributes are patience, understanding, and friendliness. A hard worker and staunch supporter of school activities, he is ready to help in any way at any time. He not only teaches music, he lives it to its fullest extent and serves as a constant inspiration to young beginning musicians.

For these reasons, we of the Shield staff would like to dedicate to you, Dr. Hal Dellinger, our efforts in this book, as you so often have dedicated your efforts to us.

ELMER W. ROWLEY, Dean, Junior College
B.S., University of Illinois
M.A., University of Chicago

Every commencement many graduates say how much they have enjoyed junior college and how fast the time has flown. Thus it will be with most of the rest of your lives. Time rests easy on the shoulders of those who have learned many of the basic lessons junior college teaches.

You have learned that life has success as well as defeat, that today lived well makes yesterday and tomorrow better, that every now and then you get slapped when you thought you would get praised, or vice versa, and that friends are more precious than gold. You have learned that life can be beautiful as well as sad, and that you can cope with the problems it brings.

You are to be complimented, for you have achieved something of which you can well be proud.

(Elmer W. Rowley
Dean
Joliet Junior College)

Now A Word From Jr. College's Deans

SUSAN H. WOOD, Assistant Dean, Junior College
Assistant Director, Adult Education
B.S., University of Illinois
M.A., University of Illinois.

Never before in the history of America have college-trained young men and women been so eagerly pursued and so highly respected. Today the social role of an individual is determined not by "who he is" but by "what he can accomplish."

May you, the students and graduates of Joliet Junior College—the future farmers, business men, secretaries, engineers, technicians, teachers, nurses, doctors and homemakers—be ever mindful that the problem that transcends all others is how to bring peace and justice to the world. Temper your skills with tolerance, reverence, humility, courage, loyalty, and a deep sense of moral values commensurate with your roles of leadership in tomorrows world.

Assistant Dean)

FRESHMAN CLASS

In September, 1956, the 399 freshman students of JJC elected their officers. Dick Wilhelmi was chosen as their president, Tom Ariagno as vice-president, and Rosemary Anderson as secretary-treasurer. The semester change brought a new vice-president as Sparky Hauck stepped into the position vacated by Tom.

Of the collegians elected by the student body to represent them on the Student Council, four were freshmen. Thus the freshman class had a voice in all Junior College activities. Believing the old adage that "action speaks louder than words," not only voiced their opinions on activities, but also participated wholeheartedly in them. Freshmen representatives-at-large to the council were Rick Anderson, Russ Hamilton, Dom Raino, and Judy Speckman.

The sponsorship of the annual New Year's Eve Dance was assumed by the class officers this year, and the student reaction to it was the same as the freshman's idea of his year—"A good time was had by all!"

ORGANIZATIONS

Student Council

College Government

The Student Council is the voice of student government. The representatives discuss problems of the school and offer solutions to these problems. However, there was one which gave them quite a bit of trouble—how to get rid of Sherlock without hurting his feelings. So Kay Bussey, whom the representatives chose president; Mel Jager, the group's vice-president; and Sue Fleming, who got the task of keeping everyone's motions straight; got together with the following club representatives and gave Sherlock a run for his money: representatives at large Spiro Bruskas, Sue Fleming, Dom Raino and Judy Speckman; Veterans' Norm Nemanich; Lettermen's Rich Lasser; WAA's Kay Powell; JC Players' Marie Chalstrom; Press's Marcia Ayers; Engineer's Armand Bianchi; Business's Leroy Schmidt; Future Teachers' Jackie Bourrie; and Choir's Kathy Young.

However, this group became so attached to Sherlock, and his bloodhound especially, that they decided to keep both of them as mascots.

Consequently, Sherlock witnessed many of the activities of the Student Council this year when he obligingly fell for the skating parties, tripped the rug fantastically at the homecoming dance, and simply kept an eye out for all college events.

Marcia Ayers and Matt Picciolo

EXTRA!

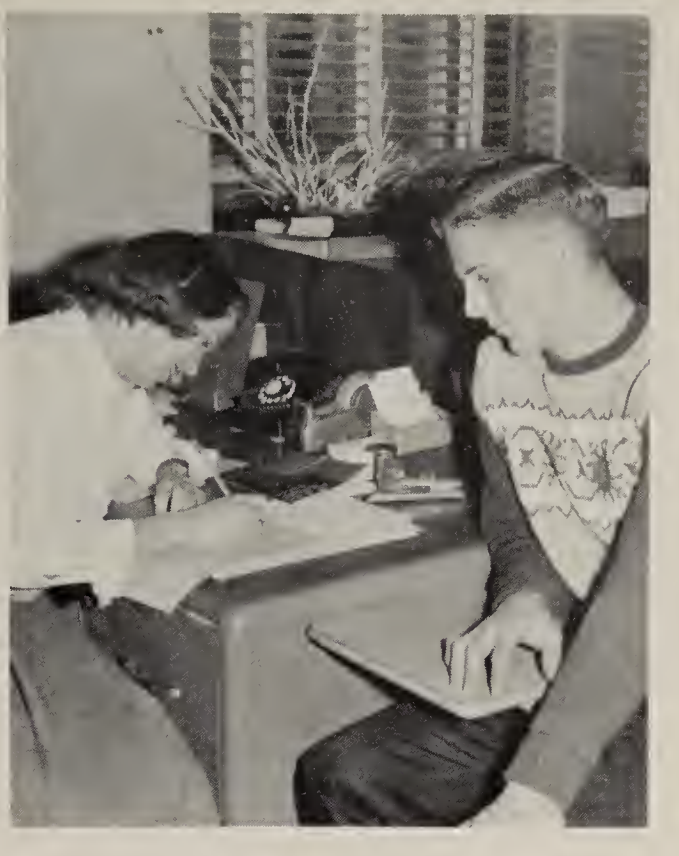
Stop the presses! Hold everything! For a moment Sherlock would like to question the "People of the Press" concerning his search.

These people who are responsible for the writing, editing, and publishing the BLAZER; "Wolf Call"; and SHIELD, the JC annual, could be of great help in ending his search because of their contact with the student body and coverage of all affairs.



Joyce Glinz and Stan Wiechec

Sherlock questioned Stan Wiechec, who is president of the club which is open to anyone working on any or all of the three publications. Other officers to be questioned were Edelgard Eichholz, vice-president; and Joyce Glinz, secretary-treasurer.

Sherlock found that Matt Picciolo, under the direction of Mr. Shirley Winteroth, was in charge of printing the BLAZER each month.

The "WOLF CALL" was discovered to be made up of pertinent news that formed a column for one of the local newspapers. Many Press Club members contributed news and had designated beats to cover. Mrs. Kathryn DeJarld compiled the weekly column.

Sherlock also recognized members of the JC Shield staff whom he had questioned earlier.

Press Club Held for Questioning

Choir and Ensemble

The choir, which almost doubled its membership since last year, had an active schedule. Besides a number of smaller engagements, the group performed in Handel's oratorio "The Messiah," put on the spring musical, and went on their annual tour to surrounding high schools.

Something new was also added this year—a twenty-five voice ensemble.

Wilson, Zelko, Bengston, Gustafson, Lapicki, Judnick, Curtis, Karns, Smith, Sing, Starasinic, Carson, Glinz, Scaccia, Brett, Rainville, Farmer, Koehler, Cooper, Casten, Wenger, Connor, Vrakas.

JC Swing Band and Quintones

From the bonfire at the beginning of the year, on through to the Christmas party, annual tour, and the spring musical, the JC swing Band has done a fine job of providing the student body with "mood" music.

The Quintones, a selected group from the choir, include Gerri Scaccia, soprano; Linda Farmer, alto; Bob Zelko, tenor; Norman Sing, baritone; and Jerry Myers, base.

The Engineers' Club

The Engineers' Club headed by Drew Castle, meets once a month to hear a Joliet area engineer talk about his special field of engineering, whether it be mechanical, electrical, civil or chemical.

The club is closely associated with the Joliet Chapter of Professional Engineers. The professional engineers during Engineers' Week in February gave an award to Edward Mallory as the outstanding engineering student in JC and to Andy Klavins as an outstanding engineering student with artistic ability.

The Engineers' Club awards the engineering students who were on the honor roll with a gold or silver pin as a sign of scholastic achievement. On a basis of 4.0 as perfect, the gold pin is awarded to those with an average of 3.4 and over, and the silver pin to those with an average of 3.2 to 3.4. This year thirteen pins were awarded.

THIRD ROW: Judy Pennington, Paula Connor, Beth Wisdom, Pat Plank, Barb Feil, Bill Austin, Tryfon Spiliotis. BACK ROW: Lucius Vargas and Jerry Saxon.

Students of Medical Science

Students of Medical Science encompass students in the various fields of medicine, from pre-doctors through pre-dental hygienists. The club also has the nurses from Silver Cross Hospital who are probationers as part of the membership.

SMS has traveled this year on two field trips to Chicago. The first was to the University of Illinois Medical Center on the south side, and then to the Northwestern Medical Center on the near north side. The club also sponsored the "Dance So Others May Walk," a part of the city-wide fight against polio by Joliet teens. Their annual Christmas party was held at the West Pines Hotel. Mr. Edmund Puddicombe is sponsor of the group.

Spring officers for SMS are Mary Lou Loebe, (secretary); and Ginny Maitland, (vice-president). George Honiotes, (treasurer), and Al Patten (president).

Cheerleaders and Pompon Girls

The purpose and aim of JC Cheerleaders is to create a fighting spirit among the players by keeping the spectators occupied cheering the team on to victory. It is the further aim of the cheerleaders to keep aloft a higher standard of sportsmanship regardless of victory or defeat. Those who deserve a great deal of credit because of the excellent way they cheered the Purple and White team on to victory are: Toni Sowa; Jean Uhde; Kathy Rakoski; Ginny Maitland, co-captain; Orie Seron, captain; Beverly Carpenter; and Joan Murphy. The girls wore purple sweaters and white slacks during the football season and white blouses and purple skirts for the basketball games.

"One for the money; two for the show; three to get ready; now go, Wolves go," is one of the newly organized Pompon Girl's cheers. This popular group was organized in the fall of '56 to keep up the school spirit. Their attractiveness and originality made the games interesting, as well as inspiring. This group is composed of Judy Yahn, Kay Weiss, Rosemary Robbins, Jonna Frosch, Carol Colstock, Judy Speckman, Barbara Seffens, Rosemary Anderson, Sue Carnegie, and Dolores Pagliei. The Pompons may be identified by their white skirts and sweaters, and purple and white pompons.

Veterans' Club

The Veterans' Club membership includes a large section of JC's enrollment, and is one of JC's biggest clubs.

The club had a Christmas project, as they do every year, of helping a needy family. Students contributed canned goods and toys, additional food was purchased and the basket was presented to an unnamed family.

Sue Fleming was the club's candidate for homecoming queen.

The fall semester officers were Bill Curtis, president; Ted Zuck, vice-president; and Bill Prynn, secretary-treasurer. The spring semester officers were Ron Goldenstern, president; Harry Woodhouse, vice-president; and Bill Burns, secretary-treasurer.

The club's new sponsor this year is Mr. Melvin May, a math teacher.

Future Teachers of America and Art Club

Sherlock attended the many activities sponsored by the F.T.A. during the past year. One was a joint meeting with the Art Club at which the supervisor of art in the Joliet Public Schools showed movies of his trip to Mexico. At other meetings films of the lives of Helen Keller and Billie Davis were shown.

The first semester the F.T.A. elected Jackie Bourrie, president and Student Council representative; Tom Manley, vice-president and program chairman; and Marcia Ayers, publicity chairman. The second semester they chose Jackie Bourrie, president and Student Council representative; Terry Ventura, secretary-treasurer; and Lillian Casten, refreshment chairman.

The Art Club is a service organization which mirrors student activities by designing and making posters and decorations for dances, sports events, and any other programs or events the school or its clubs might sponsor. Two members also helped with school publications; Tom Manley helped with cartoons for the "Blazer" and Bob Winterstein did cartooning for the "Blazer" and the Shield. Mr. Kurtz sponsors the group and helps them in their investigation of facts for posters.

Lettermens' Club

The Lettermen's Club is composed or men who have earned a letter, which makes them marked men and superb detectives in football, basketball, track, wrestling, golf, or tennis. The prime function of the club is to earn money through various activities to purchase letter jackets for men who have earned them in athletics.

It has promoted many activities such as coat checks at dances, a football banquet, and a combined Lettermen's and Boosters' Club picnic. The first semester officers were Ken Kowalczyk, president; Rich Lasser, vice-president; and Huck Donoghue, secretary-treasurer.

Second semester officers were John Racich, president; Larry Waddell, vice-president; and Joe Shetina, secretary-treasurer. Their candidate in the lineup as homecoming queen was Judy Speckman.

Boosters' Club

Allied with the JC Cheerleaders and Pompon girls in search for pep in the fans at the games is the Boosters' Club, sponsored by Miss Susan Wood, assistant dean. The Boosters elected the following officers in charge of investigation: Kay Powell, president; Judy Yahn, vice-president; and Dolores Pagliei, secretary.

Activities included the October bonfire and parade, special school-color days, and JJC pennant, white 'mum, and sweatshirt sales.

Associated Business Students

The Associated Business Students, or the Business Club as it is usually called is only three years old. It is one of the newer clubs at JJC.

The club meets once a month and all students in pre-commerce courses are members. Usually businessmen from the Joliet area speak at their meetings, although at one of the meetings this year Mr. Eugene Bondar of the JC faculty showed movies of his year in Africa.

The highlight of the year is the spring banquet which climaxes the club's activities.

This year's officers were John Herkert, president; Jim McGann, vice-president; Gerri Scaccia, secretary; Bill Burns, treasurer; Marty Kearns, historian; Paul Warren, student council representative; Joe Lavely, program chairman; and Harry Woodhouse, social chairman.

The club is sponsored by Miss Lola Emery and Mr. Duane Kirchoff.

JC Players and Orchesis

The JC Players under the sponsorship of Mr. James Day put on three one-act plays. President of the group is Dom Raino. Vice-president, Marie Chalstrom; secretary, Roberta Maday; treasurer, Bob Haberkorn; and parliamentarian, Marty Rudman.

Orchesis, a group organized to provide the choreography for the annual spring musical is a group of girls selected from modern dance classes under the direction of Miss Vera Thalrose.

Something Old, Something New

Sherlock finally thought he was on the right trail when he found a key. However, much to his dismay, the key unlocked only a closet in which had hidden JT's and JC's vocational building for the last few decades.

Above is a cartoon which illustrates Mr. Holmes' findings. Besides this, he found the agriculture and automobile shops to be dark, dreary, and drab, with motors competing against classroom studies. As he continued his search, he noticed a swimming pool and immediately began thinking of a cool, relaxing swim. Poor Sherlock, when he found out that it was being used for a wood shop!

Mr. Holmes couldn't take any more of this, so he immediately filed a complaint. An investigation was held with the following result being disclosed: a new vocational building was decided upon, to be constructed next to the heating plant on Herkimer Street. This met with public approval in a bond election held December 8, 1956. Below is a sketch of our new technical vocational building.

Sherlock stamped his approval, "Case Closed."

HOMECOMING QUEEN

The team was in the huddle;
The captain raised his head;
They all stepped in line,
And this is what was said,
"The homecoming queen is
MISS KAY BUSSEY."

These words will probably live forever in the mind of Kay Bussey, for this is the way Kay was announced queen of the homecoming festivities.

In his search, Scotland Yard's outstanding detective had no difficulty in questioning Kay, for she is known as the gal who is helpful to all. After third degree probing Mr. Holmes came up with the following information and conclusion about her activities. Kay has an ardent public, as is shown by the fact that she is one of the few women at JC ever to be elected president of the Student Council. She has also held the office of secretary-treasurer for her class for both years at JC. In addition, she is president of the Women's Athletic Association. Kay takes part in all phases of student life at JC and is a member of the Art Club, Future Teachers of America, Booster Club, Press Club, and W. A. A.

You can readily see why Sherlock had an irrestible desire to meet and chat with Kay, even though it meant that he was waylaid in his search. You can also see why Kay received one of JC's highest honors, that of being named the '56 homecoming queen.

Queen's Court

JJC'S HOMECOMING Queen, Kay Bussey, is seen as she travels in a Cadillac convertible accompanied by her court: Judy Speckman, Sue Fleming, Gerri Scaccia and Gerri Wenger. The chauffeur is Dick Wilhelmi, freshman class prexy.

Without a doubt homecoming week-end was one of the most difficult obstacles that Sherlock Holmes had to overcome in his search at JC.

His search began seriously going off the track when the campaigning for homecoming queen reached its height October 17, in an assembly where the queen candidates were introduced. All the rest of the day Sherlock was involved in voting and in the general election excitement.

All day Thursday he couldn't concentrate on his search because his curiosity about the election outcome prevented it. Would Kay Bussey, sponsored by the WAA be queen; or would Sue Fleming, sponsored by the Vet's Club? Perhaps the Associated Business Students' candidate, Gerri Scaccia, or the Lettermen's choice, Judy Speckman, would win. Or would Gerri Wenger, supported by the JC Choir, claim the crown?

The announcement was made at the bonfire held Thursday evening, and, of course, Sherlock was on hand promptly at 7:30 to hear the outcome. "Kay Bussey is queen of the JC 1956 homecoming"!!! The cheerleaders led cheers and the LOYALTY, accompanied by members of the JC Swing Band under the direction of Dr. Hal Dellinger.

All of this excitement put Mr. Holmes in such an enthusiastic state that all day Friday, as there was no school, he neglected his search—in favor of decorating floats! At 6:00 P.M. sharp he was present to see the parade which progressed through town to the stadium.

The winning float was sponsored by the WAA, who also had the winning queen candidate. "Like Taking Candy from a Baby" was the theme of their float. The homecoming game was the climax, and by this time Sherlock couldn't even remember he was on a search.

The exciting game played against LaSalle ended with a final score of 13-12 in favor of LaSalle. The two JC touchdowns were made by Huck Donoghue and Bill Wagner. The pompon girls, who made their first appearance at the homecoming game, and the cheerleaders, urged and led the enthusiasm of the crowd. During half-time the winning floats circled the track, led by the queen and her court in a convertible.

To end the evening in a more subdued tone Mr.

"LIKE TAKING CANDY FROM A BABY" was the WAA'S winning float slogan. Kay Powell, Dee Davis and Pat Bussey (queen's sister) are the float's decorations.

Kay and Joe

Holmes attended the dance held in the girls' gym at the school following the game. Here captain of the homecoming game, Joe Mussario, officially proclaimed Kay as the 1956 homecoming queen, by placing a rhinestone crown on her head. As a reward he received the first royal kiss. Her Highness then cut the fifty-fifth anniversary cake and with the assistance of her court, fed each football player a piece. She and Joe then led the dancing to the music of Buddy Everett's Orchestra, which continued until the hour of 12:00 midnight officially ended the JC 1956 homecoming events.

Of course, after a wonderful week end, Mr. Holmes was ready to return to his search the following Monday morning with the cooperation and assistance of the JC student body!

JC Picnic

September 6 was a busy day for Sherlock Holmes. With the co-operation of the student body he was able to track down Kay Bussey, Mel Jager, and Ted Zuck, who were responsible for the day's big event, the JC picnic.

Sherlock kept order in the food line and saw to it that everyone received his share. Mr. Henry Simpson had to undergo a thorough investigation because he threatened to flunk Ted Zuck, who took a little time in getting the coffee ready. When all the hungry people had been served and Sherlock was just about to sample some of Ted's famous brew, the picnic was stormed by a group of "half starved monsters." But fortunately Sherlock could solve this mystery as soon as the first shock had passed. He discovered that they were members of the football team!

Later he joined in some games and contests which were very entertaining. After a hint from Sherlock, three of last year's cheerleaders gave a few rousing cheers.

Before going home everyone pitched in to help clean up under the strict supervision of Mr. Holmes. Sherlock, by the way, was so tired out after this day that he did not even start on his way back to Scotland Yard.

Picnic frolic

It looks as if Mr. Simpson, extreme right, while taking over the roll of Sherlock has caught Miss Georgene Smith, extreme left, in the aet of helping herself before the word go. Beside Miss Smith are Mrs. and Dr. Leroy Meeay, Mr. Max Kuster, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kurtz faculty.

When Sherlock dropped in on JC's annual fall formal TIME STOOD STILL. After listening to the music of Ralph Marterie and his orchestra, Sherlock left to search out those who were responsible for this gay event.

He booked Sue Fleming and Sparky Hauck on the suspicion of being the ring leaders. Tom Manley, Gerri Wenger, Marie Chalstrom, Larry Waddell, Carol Phelan, Larry Roder and Judy Speckman were held on a decorating charge. Their accomplices were Mary Brett and Dick Wilhelmi, heads of publicity; Ginny Maitland, Dom Raino, programs; and Paula Connor and Ed Carlson, who were found responsible for the tickets and invitations issued. Sherlock then began a desperate search for Lola Schuck and Buddy Kamnikar. They were to be questioned about the refreshments that were served. Sherlock returned to the scene of the crime, the gym, where he made his final arrest. There he found Dee Davis and Russ Dahlen who were held on a clean-up charge.

WAA TEA

When Sherlock found out about the Women's Athletic Association Mother-Daughter Christmas Tea, he just couldn't pass up a spot of tea. Needless to say, his search was interrupted once again.

As he arrived, he was presented with a Tom Manley special program which is shown above, unless Sherlock hasn't kept it as a possible clue. Next, Sherlock investigated Miss Wanda Stasieluk, WAA sponsor; this made her so confused that she thought the girls were serving punch.

After Mr. Holmes had mingled among the mothers for clues, he was ready for some entertainment. The JC Choir sang a selection from "The Messiah."

As Sherlock said, "Now for the tea and crumpets." Afterwards he tracked down Mrs. Walter Bussey and Mrs. Louis Branchaw, who poured, and told them that he had a "cheerio" time and that he must be shoving off for Scotland Yard to turn in his report.

Club Commons

Elvis 'Jerry' Presley

Sherlock was stopped on his way to Scotland Yard by another clue which finally led him to the Club Commons. Here he made a few investigations, just for "safety's" sake. Mr. Holmes found out several facts concerning the average day in the life of a fountain pen from Mike O'Brien. However, in his search for the owner of the shoe he was beaten by Artis Moore and Jim Gordon. They found their shoes first!

At another one of the mixers he was able to solve a big mystery. Elvis Presley turned out to be Jerry Meyers! Sherlock also stopped Mr. Bondar just in time from eating a live turkey which Judy Klatte had received for her Thanksgiving dinner.

After finding everything in order he went on his way to Scotland Yard again.

Good Deeds of Jc'ers Bring Santa Claus

Letters to Santa Claus were the clues that lead Sherlock to the JC Christmas party. He found Santa (Brunch Lehman) giving out puppy dogs and other gifts that JC'ers had requested. Santa observed that the party was kept lively by the Swing Band, the JC Choir, and Quintones. Vocalists Gerri Scaccia, Bob Zelko, Don Wilson, and Jim Maloney showed Sherlock the Christmas spirit at JC.

Master Detective Has Time of His Life

New Year's Eve!

Balloons seemed to be the dominant feature of this season's New Year's Eve Dance for which Buddy Everett's orchestra was featured. Of course our master detective was there and he had the time of his life around midnight—so the story goes.

Before midnight he managed to track down Dick Wilhelmi, Tom Ariagno, and Rosemary Anderson and got the low down on this particular event—that everyone had a ball with confetti, noise makers, sepentine and paper hats.

Sherlock, after wishing everyone a Happy New Year, started back to Scotland Yard. However, his condition made it quite impossible for him to turn in his report that morning.

On February 9, 1957, Sherlock spent a delightful afternoon watching the three one-act plays presented by the JC Players.

"The Stronger," by August Strindberg, with Orie Seron, Lola Schuck, and Bill Curtis, was directed by Marie Chalstrom. Fran Braun, John Dennis, and Mike Stevens played in "The Bore," by Anton Chekov, under the direction of Dom Raino. Marty Rudman directed "The Lady of Larkspur Lotion," by Tennessee Williams. The cast for this play included Roberta Maday, Helen Fiddyment, and George Economides.

CHOIR

Gerri Scaccia

Dr. Hal Dellinger

After enjoying the three one-act plays Sherlock packed his suitcase to accompany the JC Choir and Swing Band on their annual tour. The tour was a big success according to Dr. Hal Dellinger, director of the choir and band. It took place on February 26, 27, and March 5, and included programs presented at Yorkville, Lockport, Lincoln-Way, Seneca, Carl Sandburg, Plainfield, Mazon, and Marseilles high schools. George Economides acted as master of ceremonies. There were several soloists. Bob Zelko, Gerri Scaccia, and Flo Daniels with the choir; and Norm Sing, Tom Goodwin, Fred Troope, and Wesley Shaw with the band.

The students were received warmly at the various schools. This was one of the very rare events at which Sherlock did not have very much investigating to do. He only checked the buses and cars in which the group travelled to see if the 120 students and their equipment were all on board.

A panel, consisting of Pat Torok, Mike O'Brien and Kay Pickles discussed the opportunities at JC and why they chose this school for their junior college education.

Friday night, February 22, Sherlock Holmes, together with 45 collegians, left for Land O' Lakes, Wisconsin. After the group had arrived there early the next day, Sherlock counted all the students to see if everyone had survived the long train trip. The party stayed at King's Gateway Hotel and Inn.

This week-end was one of Mr. Holmes' busiest during the school year. While the students were enjoying skiing, skating, sleigh riding, snowshoeing, and tobogganing, Sherlock kept a watchful eye on them. Frequently he was called upon to "pick up" the broken arms, broken legs, and sprained ankles of unfortunate ski enthusiasts. Only at night was he able to relax a bit when he joined the collegians in singing in front of the fireplace.

Sherlock made sure that the group arrived back in Joliet on Monday in time to attend classes.

COACH HERMAN WALSER seems worried here as he strides forward to get a better view of the game. However, team members in the baekground look on without any apparent emotion and have eomplete eonfidenee in their fellow team members.

COACH ROY CARLSON looks worried also, and seems to be shouting some word of instruetion to the team as he stands almost on the out-of-bounds line, unable to get eloser. The extreme cold is shown by both eoaehes as they shiver, hands in pockets, near the edge of the field.

Football

Wolves are known for their cunningness and daring, and these qualities were very evident in the football team throughout the season as they met other teams with outstanding qualities also. Cunningness the Wolves had, but this was not enough to win games for Coaches Herman Walser and Roy Carlson. Time and again the Wolves' line was pushed back and broken through, even before the Wolves beat Morton, Illinois, in the one and only Wolves victory of the 1956 football season.

In at least two games the Wolves were definitely out-classed, and in other games, due to injuries, lack of breaks, and mistakes which every team makes, the team failed to bring out the potentialities which it certainly possessed. The Wolves were also outweighed by most teams and probably this weight deficiency made the chances for a good or even fair season very small.

Coach Walser stated that the team never jelled, but that it did have the potential. Joe Mussario, halfback who had a final season average of 4.5 yards per run, was selected by the coaches as the outstanding backfield man, and Ken Kowalczyk and Eugene Matesi were picked as outstanding linemen for the season.

Sophomores who will not be returning to the squad next year include Ed Carlson, Dick Kittrell, Ken Kowalczyk, Pete Laketa, Rich Lasser, Tom Marchio, Ron McDowell, Joe Shetina, Jim Slobodnik, Howard Woodman, and Ed Sova.

JOE MUSSARIO runs for a touchdown in Joliet's game against Morton. The Wolves won 6-0.

Basketball

The JC basketball team, which was hampered because of its lack of height, showed amazing ability in its 1956-57 season. Pushed by A. A. Wills, it became the top scoring junior college basketball team in the nation, with a 96-7 point-a-game average for the season.

Somewhat underrated at first, JC was not satisfied with this average and went on to defeat Vincennes, Indiana in a thrilling game, with a score of 92-88 for the regional twelve first place trophy.

In this tournament JC suffered a bad break when Bill Tuffli, JC's leading scorer, was ruled ineligible for tournament play for one year because he had transferred from Chipola, Florida.

JC had the misfortune of meeting Moberly, Missouri, top rated team of the country at the time, as its first opponent in the national tournament. JC lost the opening game to Moberly, but came back to defeat Des Moines, Iowa, with a score of 95-74. Hutchinson, Kansas, then knocked the Wolves out of the tournament with a score of 78-64.

During the season the Wolves reached 100 points eleven times and lost three of these 100 or 100-plus games, one to LaSalle-Peru and two to Great Lakes. Even with the lack of height and the loss of its top scorer for tournament play, the Wolves came out of the season with twenty-two victories and ten losses, a truly outstanding achievement.

BILL TUFFLI

It's not often that an individual gets the honor of being fifth or even tenth, highest scoring individual in the country for any sport, but Bill Tuffli, JC ace forward, with an average of 26 points a game, became the fifth highest scoring individual in the United States in junior college competition for the 1956-57 basketball season.

Tuffli, a sophomore in JC, came to the Wolves from Chipola, Florida, while in his sophomore year, and it was with the Wolves that he attained his high average.

The six foot two ace's season ended before that of his team-mates, however. Bill was ruled ineligible for tournament play for one year by the National Junior College Athletic Association, because of his transfer from Florida.

Wrestling

Although the JC wrestling team had a short season this year, three wrestlers, Jim Holder, Bill Lewis, and Don Barnes, became lettermen during the 1956-57 season. Other members of the team were John Smith, Ken Griswold, Don Wilson, Dave Woodward, Armand Bianchi, Jim Hirschfeld, Jim Lunningham, Rich Norris, Dick Hrpcha, and Don Ivanich.

During their short season, the Wolf wrestlers compiled a record of one victory and four losses. The JC team dealt this one defeat to Illinois Technology, who also won a match against the Wolves. JC lost two matches to Wheaton and one to Wright.

Returning to JC next year should be Dave Woodman, John Smith, Don Wilson, Armand Bianchi, and lettermen, Bill Lewis and Jim Holder.

Golf

The JJC golf team, under the coaching of Mr. Shirley Winterroth, made an excellent beginning in its 1956 golf record by winning its first game at LaGrange by a score of 12-6. LaGrange seems to have been the only defeatable team for Joliet, because in the remainder of Joliet's matches JC lost against Wright, and twice to North Park and Thornton. However, it again defeated LaGrange at Joliet.

JC's golfers, Ed Czerkies, Jack Dennis, Ken Molnar, Jack Snider, and Bill Tuffli ended the season for JC by taking fourth place with a score of 333 in the conference which was held at LaGrange on Oct. 16. Although JC golfers such as Tom Ariagno, Jack Amorose, Al McCloud, and Roger Anderson did not participate in the conference, they played golf with the team throughout the year and were equally interested in winning the conference.

Returning members of the team for the 1957 season will be Ken Molnar, Tom Ariagno, Jack Amorose. Besides having these members out for the 1957 team, Coach Winterroth will have, he expects, at least five golfers just graduated from JTHS and hopes to exceed this year's record greatly.

FINAL REPORT—Case No. 1956-57

SUBJECT: Joliet Junior College
Joliet, Illinois

PURPOSE: To investigate reasons for continued attendance at above institution of large numbers of persons daily and, on occasion, during evenings and on weekends.

PROCEDURE: Assigned to case September 11, 1956.

Investigation made difficult by varied nature of activities. Took evidence on following occasions: parades; scientific experiments; class lectures; ski trip; decorating ballroom, gymnasium and floats; golf, baseball, football, basketball and wrestling matches; bonfire; skating party; W.A.A. tea; basketball tournament; choir tour; dramatic presentations.

Was most capability aided by the following persons, who drew illustrations and photographed evidence for subsequent study by inspector:

Mr. Maynard Leatsler
Mr. Thomas Balla
Mr. James Skul
Mr. Robert Winterstein

Conclusion: Reason for continued daily attendance by large numbers of persons at Joliet Junior College is the quest for knowledge. Said knowledge discovered to be within covers of books, in lectures, in experiments, in association wth fellow students, and in working together on common projects.

Respectfully submitted,

Sherlock Holmes
